AN ANNOUNCEMENT OF INTEREST TO TEACHERS OF ENGLISH

Messrs. Newson & Company announce the publication of the following book that will make a strong appeal to Teachers of English:

Effective English Expression

A High-School Text on Oral and Written Composition

By EDWARD HARLAN WEBSTER

Head of the Department of English, The Technical High School, and Director of English, Junior High Schools, Springfield, Massachusetts

This book emphasizes in nearly every exercise the four steps of procedure associated with the successful working out of THE PROJECT METHOD; viz, purposing, planning, executing, judging. The pupil is made to approach each exercise with his purpose clearly defined and stated as a guide, by means of which he is encouraged to plan (select and arrange material), present or execute his organized thought, and finally revise or judge his product. This emphasis upon purpose guarantees unity, coherence, emphasis, and gives to each exercise a vitality and an interest always associated with the purposeful act. The subjects for writing and speaking deal with social and business life and incorporate the various school projects characteristic of student activities today.

HOW ABOUT YOUR SALARY CHECK?

Does it measure, adequately, the service you render?

More than seventeen thousand brainy men and women have received larger salary checks—often double—by using WESTERN REFERENCE SERVICE. Our ninth year of recommending only when asked to do so by employers. This is why our members are usually chosen. They are wanted. Any other method is unethical and unprofessional. Thousands of the best and most progressive employers in forty-three states and four foreign countries recognize this, and last season asked us to furnish WESTERN REFERENCE teachers, from Kindergarten to University.

If YOU want a position in these desirable schools, with adequate salaries and congenial conditions, you must use the same service they use when in need of teachers—WESTERN REFERENCE SERVICE. Free enrollment. Commission payable out of first and second months salary. ENROLL TODAY.

English Teaching and Citizenship

The teaching of English is bound up with the teaching of Citizenship. Through language study foreigners learn our speech, our customs, and our laws. Through literature high ideals are created and character formed.

The songs of America give the final touch. Interwoven in their very fibre is love of country, love of home, love of man, love of tradition. But the pupils should sing these songs while they study their meaning and history.

The following list of band accompaniments for singing have been recorded specially for this purpose, under the personal supervision of Peter W. Dykema, of the University of Wisconsin. They are loud, clear, accurate in tempo and key. With these records and the ever-ready Grafonola, the English teacher may bring his pupils in touch with the heart of America. Following is the list:

Do Your Pupils Speak Bohemian Rather Than English?

Let us quote an extract from an English teacher's recent letter, showing that an antidote has been found to counteract this evil:

"ATLANTIC PROSE AND POETRY is splendid! Not even my years of devotion to the Atlantic Monthly had led me to anticipate such treasure! I am sure that you can't half appreciate the delight with which I look forward to using this book with my first-year class, in which Bohemian rather than English is the mother tongue."

Order this book for use in your junior and first year high school classes, and thus cultivate a taste for the best literature in the only way it can be cultivated—by delighting and fascinating the reader.

The instruments of the orchestra by sight, sound, and story

A constructive aid for teaching music in the schools

This plan of orchestral instrument study ments in absolute accuracy of color and detail;

Two Victor double-face records (Nos. 35670

the tone color of every instrument in appropriate excerpts;

IMPORTANT BOOKS FOR THE TEACHER OF ENGLISH

What Can Literature Do for Me?

This is the question asked by many thoughtful pupils. Literature can "give you an outlet"; "keep before you the vision of the ideal"; "give you a better knowledge of human nature"; "restore the past to you"; "show you the glory of the commonplace"; "give you the mastery of your own language."

Just read Professor C. Alphonso Smith's engaging book and then put it in your classes for regular study. The result will be gratifying. Thousands of students are using it with real profit. During 1920 its use as a class-room text was nearly doubled.

"Professor Smith's book has done more to stimulate wider reading than any one book I have ever known."

Types of Great Literature

The desire for selections from the great masterpieces in one volume is fulfilled in this book. The selections are arranged according to type, another satisfying feature, and cover every form except drama, novel, and short-story, which are either impossible of publication in this manner or easily available in other books. The editors, P. H. Houston, English Department, U.S. Naval Academy, and J. K. Bonnell, Professor of English, Goucher College, exercised rare judgment in making selections that are uniformly interesting. Used by more than six thousand students during the past twelve months as a required text-book.

"The idea of the book is exactly right."

"Selections made with rare discrimination."
